Working Together We Can All Achieve

Why study at Mill Hill Sixth Form?

"Welcome to Mill Hill School Sixth Form. The decision to join our Sixth Form means excellent opportunities to pursue academic and social interests in a dedicated and supportive environment with high teaching standards and a real sense of community."

We offer a wide range of learning pathways in both academic and vocational courses to ensure we cater for the needs of all our students. We are committed to supporting your aspirations and building on your achievements. Our students are successful in gaining places at the best Universities, on highly sought after Apprenticeships or positions in a range of careers with training opportunities. We wish to see our students developing self confidence, initiative, self discipline and care and concern for others. If you share these aims, we invite you to join us at Mill Hill Sixth Form.

Courses to suit you

“We believe in offering diversity in our curriculum through a very wide range of courses.”

We offer a large choice of A-level subjects at Mill Hill Sixth Form and our offer is constantly being up-dated. Most students who study A-levels will complete four AS levels in Year 12 and reduce to three A2 subjects in Year 13, although academically gifted students may stretch themselves and complete more.

We provide a range of vocational qualifications at Level 2 and Level 3 such as the BTEC suite of courses, which are highly regarded by employers. These offer a route into employment or higher education and are suited to students who prefer on-going assessment.

We are delighted to have been authorised to deliver the prestigious International Baccalaureate Diploma, a broad and challenging two year programme of study leading to a highly regarded qualification.

Support and guidance

“As a member of Mill Hill School Sixth Form you will receive personal support and guidance and have access to a range of careers advice.”

You will be assigned a tutor who will monitor your progress and have responsibility for your academic and social welfare. You will be set challenging targets within two weeks of starting Sixth Form, these are based on your GCSE results. These targets will be shared with all your subject teachers and tutor.

A comprehensive programme of advice, information and guidance will be delivered via a structured programme in tutor periods and enrichment slots. These will often involve speakers and experts from outside the school. We do our best to help you onto the right pathway after the Sixth Form whether it's into employment or higher education. There are 50,000 different courses on offer at University. We run a programme that involves students and parents or carers to ensure you can navigate the complex process of University application and finance with confidence.

Beyond the classroom

“In addition to your studies it is important that you make the most of developing other skills, talents and interests and gain the enjoyment and satisfaction of playing a full part in school life.”

Increasingly employers and admissions officers at universities are looking for students who have many skills and can balance a variety of commitments. There will be many opportunities such as Duke of Edinburgh Scheme, Community Sports Leadership Award, development of research skills via the Extended Project qualification and a wide range of music, drama and social activities. There are also numerous opportunities for students to support younger students via mentoring and to become involved in voluntary work to help the wider community.

Application

“We welcome applications from students in Year 11 as well as students from other schools and those returning to education.”

The most important factor when choosing your Sixth Form courses is to ensure that it will be a course you will enjoy and be successful in. You should think carefully about your future plans and may want to research what qualifications you require if you have a definite career in mind.

Course summary sheets give details of each qualification including course content, entry requirements, methods of assessments and the exam board. We recommend you attend the Sixth Form Open Evening to gain details of courses before you apply during the Autumn term.
